

Overview

- In this simulated meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, students take on the role of ambassadors for an assortment of international players.
- Students must choose between making demands, exercising diplomacy, forming alliances, and burning bridges.
- They must make decisions and accept responsibility for how those decisions impact the people they represent.

Learning Objectives

- |                                  |                                |
|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| • International Diplomacy        | • Factual Analysis             |
| • Proper and Improper Compromise | • Negotiating                  |
| • Importance of Teamwork         | • Hands-on Leadership          |
| • Civic Responsibility           | • Defending Values and Beliefs |
|                                  | • Critical Thinking            |

Teaching Methods

- Kinetic Simulation
- Immersive Learning
- Problem-based Learning
- Anchor-based Learning.
- Hands-on Leadership

