HSLDA's
GENERATION JOSHUA
THE FUTURE OF AMERICA

Dear Generation Joshua Parent Volunteers,

We are excited about the upcoming Student Action Teams (SATs). The mission of these SATs: to help elect pro-life and pro-family candidates throughout the nation.

We have compiled the SAT handbook to let you know what is expected of you. This handbook will give you a representative daily schedule so you have an idea of what you'll be doing each day. We've also tried to address some of the frequently asked questions that arise with SATs.

We ask that you remember one important, crucial fact: this is campaigning. Campaigning can be hard, but it is rewarding. While I can promise that everyone here at Generation Joshua will do everything possible to make sure that these SATs run as smoothly as possible, I also ask that you remember to be flexible. The number one rule in campaigning is that things rarely go according to plan, no matter how much planning has been put into the details. It is my hope that you will not only make a difference now, in this race, but you will also gain a vision for making powerful and godly changes in America in the days to come. America needs men and women of character in offices of leadership.

In this election season, we have the chance to help conservative candidates win important elections. Generation Joshua can be instrumental in the movement to steer America in the right direction. Samuel Adams said "It does not require a majority to prevail, but rather an irate, tireless minority keen to set brush fires in people's minds." I am convinced that you and the rest of the Generation Joshua family are that tireless minority. You are a small band of dedicated young men and women, in the right place at the right time. You can move America in the right direction, and by moving America, you can move the world.

Stay strong and courageous,

Joel D. Grewe
and the Generation Joshua Staff

Chain of Command

The Student Action Teams are structured as follows

On Student Action Teams, the chain of command is very important. Generation Joshua recognizes that parents are the final authority over their children. If a parent/guardian volunteer is on an SAT, they have the right to decide what their student(s) may or may not do. With this exception, the team directors are given authority to determine all the activities and guidelines for everyone attending an SAT, for liability and safety purposes.

Code of Conduct for SAT Members

The Main Point

As a member of the Student Action Team, you are the face of many people, groups and organizations. Your actions will reflect either positively or negatively on all of them. You represent the candidate, or organization you are working for, Generation Joshua, the homeschooling community, your family, and Jesus Christ. You also represent yourself. Remember that reputation is one of the most valuable commodities you have, and it is one of the easiest commodities to destroy. Your actions on this SAT may either build or tear down this entire list. Take all this trust and responsibility to heart. Act like the responsible, mature young adults, and avoid silly and foolish behavior. Your behavior should honor God and enhance the reputation of those you represent.

Dress Code

Clothes must be worn in a way such that genitals, buttocks, breasts, and nipples are covered with opaque fabric when sitting and standing.

Students must wear:

- A shirt or equivalent (for example a blouse, tshirt, dress, or sweater) with opaque fabric in the front-including the stomach area, back, on the sides under the arms, and that passes over at least one shoulder.
- Pants/jeans or the equivalent (for example, a skirt, sweatpants, leggings, a dress, or shorts). Any of these must be at least mid thigh length.

Warm Weather Locations

Jeans and nice slacks are appropriate wear. Bring warm clothing for possibly cool evenings. We recommend that you bring a light jacket in case of rain.

Cold Weather Locations

The vast majority of SATs will be in cold weather locations. Students are strongly advised to bring a warm coat, rain clothes, gloves, hat, jeans or warm pants, long sleeve shirts, and/or sweatshirts/sweaters.

Music

Style: violent, obscene, or inappropriate lyrical content is not permitted.

Volume level: inaudible outside one's room. Please respect your roommates' personal convictions, using headphones when needed.

Television/Movies/Internet

Violent, obscene, or inappropriate content is not permitted. Volume level: inaudible outside one's room. Please respect your roommates' personal convictions, and abstain from visual entertainment that others find objectionable.

Controlled substances

The use of alcohol, tobacco, marijuana, and illegal drugs is prohibited.

Rooms

Rooms are to be kept neat and orderly. Guidelines for 'neat and orderly' will be given to the team members by the team director at the beginning of Student Action Teams.

Discipline

Every team member is expected to abide by the guidelines listed in this handbook and to conduct himself/herself in a manner that is honoring to God. Infractions will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. We will attempt to contact parents to resolve all matters worthy of expulsion from Student Action Teams, such as a repeated disregard for the honor code and guidelines, or unsafe or illegal behavior. Refer to the How To Go Home Early portion of this handbook.

How to Go Home Early at Your Parent's Expense

Note: these rules are not all-inclusive. All infractions will be handled on a case-by-case basis.

If you see a fellow student breaking one of these rules, please bring it to the team leader or team director's attention immediately. GenJ Director Joel Grewe will be involved in the final decision of whether a student needs to be sent home at their parent's expense.

Statement of Faith

Generation Joshua is a Christian organization dedicated to bringing honor and glory to the Lord Jesus Christ in all of its activities. Each Generation Joshua staff member fully and enthusiastically subscribes to the following Statement of Faith:

1. There is one God, eternally existent in three Persons: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
2. God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship Him in Spirit and in truth.
3. Jesus Christ, born of a virgin, is God come in the flesh.
4. The Bible in its entirety is the inspired word of God, inerrant in its original auto graphs, and the only infallible and sufficient authority for faith and Christian living.
5. Man is by nature sinful and is inherently in need of salvation, which is exclusively found by faith alone in Jesus Christ and His shed blood.
6. Christ's death provides substitutionary atonement for our sins.
7. Personal salvation comes to mankind by grace through faith.
8. Jesus Christ literally rose bodily from the dead.
9. Jesus Christ literally will come to earth again in the second advent.
10. Satan exists as a personal, malevolent being who acts as tempter and accuser, for whom hell, the place of eternal punishment, was prepared, where all who die outside of Christ shall be confined in conscious torment for eternity.

Media Dos and Don'ts

Any time you take part in a Generation Joshua SAT, there is a distinct possibility that you may be approached by the media for an interview. If you are approached by a member of the media, please understand that you are not obligated to agree to an interview or to answer any questions. In fact, we recommend that you instead direct policy questions to the GenJ team director or to your candidate's campaign. If, however, you do agree to speak to the media here are some important things to keep in mind.

First of all, this is the age of the internet. By agreeing to an interview it is entirely possible that your name, and anything you say will be posted into an article online for anyone to see. Taking part in an interview with the media will permanently attach what you express to you. We urge you to be cautious for your own protection. Also, the media can, and often will, twist what you say to fit their story. For example, mentioning to a reporter that you are not from the state were you are campaigning may turn into a story on how your candidate brought volunteers in from other states because he could not find in-state volunteers.

If you do choose to talk to a member of the media, stick to the talking points of the campaign. (You'll find this sort of broad information on the campaign literature you'll be handing out.) For instance, if your candidate supports limited government and family values, say that's why you support him/her. If you have had personal interactions with the candidate, mention what you liked about him or her. If you are asked about your age or what prompted you to be involved, talk about your reasons for believing that young people should be active and can make a difference.

If you are asked specific questions about the candidate's policy on the issues, be very careful. It is important to remember that you do not have to answer any of their questions. If you have any doubt in your mind about the answer to a question, don't say anything. It is perfectly legitimate to say that you are unsure, and refer them to the team director, or to the campaign staff. You should never say something that isn't completely accurate. If you are asked a question that makes you uncomfortable, decline to answer. You are not obliged to answer any questions that are put to you even if you have agreed to an interview. At all times during the interview, remain gracious and polite, but also be aware that you are in control of the situation. As the one being interviewed and may end the interview at any time. Never allow yourself to be forced into saying something you will regret.

As you are out on the campaign trail, please keep each of these points in mind. Generation Joshua welcomes media attention, and we are happy to give interviews when asked. We're always excited to share the mission of Generation Joshua and our passion for having young people involved in the political process.

Don't Talk About

- Don't say something you don't want to say
- Don't get sidetracked irrelevant issues
- Don't distract from the issues by talking about where you are from
- Don't talk about what other people say about the candidate

Talk About

- Only say what you're sure of
- Focus on campaign talking points
- Talk about how you believe young people can make a difference
- Talk about your personal interactions with the candidate
