Thank you for considering the Generation Joshua Summer Intern Program! We are excited to welcome a number of interns into the program each summer for an internship that will last from May 12 until August 9. This internship is not paid, but it provides lodging in the dorms at Patrick Henry College, a meal plan in the college cafeteria when it is open, and a small stipend to help offset some related living expenses and meals for when the cafeteria is not open like at the beginning of the summer.

The internship is for your benefit and will equip you to better understand the political process, American governmental institutions, and ministry to teens. You will be expected to work in an office environment approximately 40 hours a week, be willing to travel as needed, and serve on the leadership team for 3-4 camps working much longer days. This is a very time intensive internship and while we strive to give a few days off in the space between our summer camps, we expect each intern to be on the job each working day of the internship as well as some weekends.

Ideal applicants will demonstrate the following attributes: a willingness to learn, a heart for ministry, a strong work ethic, organizational skills, creativity, strong communication skills, and a willingness to engage in the American government process. All these attributes must be carried out in accordance with the principles laid out in the Generation Joshua Statement of Faith and the Generation Joshua Core Values.

Please note: while we do use many summer interns as counselors at our camps, that role is not automatically part of this internship. The skills needed as an intern are not necessarily the same the skills needed to be a counselor.

This application must be filled out and submitted in its entirety by March 8 to be considered for an internship this coming summer.
